Javits Says President's Peace Leadership Vital to All World

"President Eisenhower's is the unparalleled peace leadership of the free world," Jacob K. Javits, attorney general of the state of New York, and Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, told over 1,000 county residents attending the New Paltz Republican Club rally Sunday at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale.

"His guidance of the foreign policy of our nation has maintained the peace since 1952 with honor, and directed our nation along the road of firm opposition to Communist aggression and subversion while at the same time welcoming openly and wisely any overture that could lead to genuine peace," Javits said.

"The attorney general after speaking at the Rosendale rally was scheduled to speak again at a rally sponsored by the Ukrainian National Association, Kerkhonsk.

Roosevelt Is Speaker
Sharing the speaker's platform as one of two principal speakers was John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was introduced by Ex-congressman Jay LeFever of New Paltz.

Roosevelt said he believed it was the first time a Roosevelt from the Hudson valley had spoken at a Republican gathering. He said he was frequently asked why he was supporting the Republican candidates. It was because he "could not stand Harry Truman" and he felt that Dwight D. Eisenhower was his candidate "to lead me." He said he believed it was necessary to "insure another 4 years of the type of leadership that we have had during the past 4 years under Dwight D. Eisenhower."

During the Eisenhower administration we have had peace. Four years ago we were at war, "though President Truman only termed it a police action but nevertheless thousands of Americans were being killed or wounded on foreign shores." He said under Eisenhower we have made a start in the direction of "peace for all times." The speaker also referred to the present "prosperity, yes, an unprecedented prosperity in times of peace."

Economic problems face us, but Roosevelt said contrary to what we hear the present administration does not foster prosperity only for big business. During 1955 there were only 42 failures per 10,000 firms. The average from 1900 to 1955 had been 71 and in the years 1939 to 1941 the average was 63. He referred to the defense contracts being given small firms which presently exceed those given under Truman "the alleged standard bearer of small business."

Dollar Buys More
Under the last Democratic administration the purchasing power of the dollar "dwindled away," but a virtual halt has been brought about by the Republican administration.

"The President proposed to the last Congress a six point program for further elimination of segregation and discrimination, but the program died in Democratic controlled committees," Roosevelt urged election of a Republican Congress to aid and back the Eisenhower administration.

While the weather kept many from attending the rally, there were over 1,000 in attendance.

Constitution Week Proclaimed Here

Constitution Week, sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution in observance of the 169th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, was proclaimed today through Sept. 23 by Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

"Support of our Constitution and the preservation of our unique constitutional government is essential to the preservation of a free world," the mayor said.

He urged all citizens to pay homage and respect "to our Constitutional rights and privileges, and the advantages of American citizenship thereunder, so that this nation, under God, may continue to serve as a beacon and an example to all humanity."

17 Nations to Talk on Suez Most of Ship's 37 Crew Lost

Freighter Goes Down Off Norway Search Continues In Frigid Waters

Bodo, Norway, Sept. 17 (AP)—The body of a second man killed in the sinking of the American freighter Pelagia was pulled today from the icy sea off Norway. All the ship's 37 crewmen save five men plucked yesterday from a bobbing lifeboat were feared dead.

The lifeboat also contained the body of a steward who died of exposure. An air-sea search for survivors went on despite vanishing hopes.

A low-flying search plane sighted the second body drifting among the debris and oil slick where the Pelagia sank in a raging storm Saturday night.

Destroyer to Rescue
The Norwegian destroyer Trondheim sped to the scene and retrieved the body. It was not identified immediately.

Three planes and a score of ships and fishing boats crisscrossed the area of the shipwreck off Norway's coast. There was a slight chance that survivors could have been washed ashore on one of the hundreds of rock islands that dot the area.

Close scrutiny of the islands was made hazardous by a wavering breeze and huge, oily ocean swells. A leaden sky and frequent rain squalls lowered visibility. The air temperature in the search area hovered around 45 degrees.

Doubt Rescue
Rescue officials privately expressed their doubt of finding any of the 30 men still missing alive.

"No one could live in this icy water," one said.
But a spokesman for the Norwegian Rescue Assn. said: "our intention is to keep on the job as long as the slimmest hope remains."

The American Embassy at Oslo ordered Vice Consul Michael Newling to fly to Harstad—where the five survivors were brought—to provide for medical care, clothing and other necessities.

Lifeboats Smashed
The survivors said they last saw their shipmates on the deck of the sinking freighter. They said the gale smashed the ship's three other lifeboats and that they were afraid the others were unable to get away.

The British trawler Northern Duke found the lifeboat drifting between Myken and Traena Islands, just south of the Arctic Circle. In the space of a night and a morning it had been driven 60 miles by wind and current from the point just south of the Lofoten Archipelago where the Pelagia sank.

Dead was Jean Lopez of Santiago, Puerto Rico, a steward. The others in the boat said they tried desperately to keep Lopez awake as the Arctic cold numbed him, but he fell asleep and died.

The survivors were Steward Demetrius M. Hadjicostas of Syros, Greece; Fireman Pedro Pileta Rodriguez of Baltimore;

Attention Focused On Farmer Voting

(By The Associated Press)
The welfare of the U. S. farmer—and how he votes in November—appeared to hold the attention of both presidential candidates and their parties today.

President Eisenhower arranged an early appointment for Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), obviously a preliminary to the President's scheduled appearance Friday at the national field days and plowing contest at Newton, Iowa.

Eisenhower's Democratic opponent, Adlai Stevenson, scheduled an afternoon news conference in Washington, with farm topics likely to arise. Stevenson is booked to speak at the Iowa celebration the day after Eisenhower's appearance.

Stevenson accused Eisenhower on Saturday of "borrowing" the Democrats' farm program in the 1952 presidential campaign, and of returning it unused immediately after the election.

Stevenson also announced last night he will take off next Saturday on a 7,000-mile airplane tour of 11 states, with heavy emphasis on farm areas.

Sendoff for Nixon
Eisenhower arranged to address a sendoff breakfast tomorrow for Vice President Nixon, who is departing on a 15,000-mile jaunt through 32 states, and for other GOP campaign speakers leaving that day on campaign tours.

Stevenson's running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, headed today for dairy-conscious Wisconsin, after a Cleveland, Ohio, appearance in which he accused the Eisenhower administration of working against "the little people" of the nation.

Income Better
In Washington, the Agriculture Department said today that net farm income—one of the hottest election year topics—appears likely to be around 9 percent higher than last year for the July-September quarter.

Stevenson raised the farm issue in a wide-ranging assault on the administration at a rally at Fairfax, Va., just across the Potomac river from Washington, D. C. He also said "shameless political trickery" has been used against government workers in the loyalty security program.

The administration has, Stevenson said, "pilloried innocent men and women under the pretense of conducting loyalty and security investigations." He said Democrats would "devise a program which will safeguard the state without degrading those who serve it."

TV Speech Wednesday
Eisenhower also plans a televised campaign speech Wednesday night, the first of a half dozen nationwide TV and radio appearances he will make during

Democrats' Farm Plan Pessimistic: Benson

Chicago, Sept. 17 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today said the Democratic farm plan is "pessimistic because it calls upon government to be the market for which farmers would produce."

Benson said the Democratic program "assumes there is no future for farmers except government subsidy at a level which would involve government dictation and control over their production."

In an address prepared for a convention of the National Frozen Food Locker Institute, Benson said "I would like to ask personally, every farmer across this great land whether he would like to have government tell him what he can grow and how much, what he can sell and how much?"

"Or, would he choose as his alternative x x x a program designed to eliminate market-detracting, price-detracting, income-detracting surpluses that now hang over him—a program grounded in the conviction that government can do much to aid farmers, but that government should operate always in the role of servant and never in the role of master."

Benson said "farmers don't want more surpluses . . . they don't want agriculture socialized."

"Only a free and flexible agriculture can stay tuned to markets—and only an agriculture that stays in tune with its markets can be expanding and prosperous," Benson said.

The secretary said that under the Eisenhower Republican administration, government-owned surpluses amounting to two billion, 700 million dollars were moved into useful outlets in the fiscal year 1955—"more than ever before in any one year, and five times as much as in the last year of the previous administration."

Excluding cotton, Benson said, agricultural exports last year "reached the highest level in 30 years."

"Markets are expanding, and five years of price decline that began in 1951 has been checked," he said.

"Our task now is to eliminate the surpluses that are our most complex problem" and "to achieve a healthy, high-level balance between abundant production by farmers and the market needs of peacetime."

Hamm May Do Review in Carvel Case

An appeal by opponents to a recent zoning board decision, which favors application of the Carvel Corp., White Plains, to build an ice cream store at Albany and Foxhall avenues, is expected to be reviewed by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm, of the Third Judicial District, it was indicated today.

Had Earlier Appeal
Papers concerning a "show cause" order for review of the decision were returnable before Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman in Albany Friday, but it is expected that they will be forwarded to Judge Hamm, who already has figured in the case on an earlier appeal.

The corporation's original application was rejected by the Common Council. A zoning board opinion reversed this decision, and held that the Carvel Corp. is entitled to build and operate an ice cream store on the Monroe T. Southard property at the intersection, because it was used for gasoline station purposes for many years, and is in an area that is largely of business and industrial character.

List of Opponents
Listed as opposing the board's decision are Frank Lyle, of 438 Albany avenue, Ethel Leware, of Foxhall avenue, and Charles Pugliese and Ralph Nelson, of Deyo street.

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, represents the four in opposition. S. James Matthews represents the Southard interests, Philip R. Franklin appears for the Carvel interests and the city is represented by Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy.

The opposition is asking for a stay of proceedings until the appeal is determined by the court. They contend that the business use sought would be more detrimental and hazardous than the other.

No Trace of Man
Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Cuban President Fulgencio Batista's 15-year-old daughter and another girl were back in a Hartford, Conn., rest home today after figuring in a false fire alarm episode here. Elisa Batista and Catherine Lang, 17, of 160 Pleasant street, Haworth, N. Y., told police they sounded the alarm at 5:22 a. m. to summon help against a man who attempted to molest them. About 60 firemen responded, but no trace of the man was found.

Changes Seen
It is likely the first idea of the association—to regulate traffic through Suez—would be radically changed before the new London conference, successor to the 22-nation Suez conference of mid-August, is finished.

Some sources speculated that a complete boycott of the canal was the new longrange western scheme to force Egypt to give up sole control of the waterway.

Dulles Due Tomorrow
U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, who fathered the association idea, was reported ready to offer a half billion dollars and American oil aid to soften the increased cost to the other nations of sending ships the long way around the Cape of Good Hope. He will arrive here tomorrow for talks with the British and French.

Such a boycott would leave Nasser in control of the canal but with few customers, since the 18 nations invited here for Wednesday's talks represent from 90 to 95 per cent of the shipping through Suez. It would also avoid the use of force.

Besides the western Big Three, Ethiopia and Spain, those asked to the conference are Turkey, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, Pakistan, Iran, West Germany, Italy, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Portugal, and the Netherlands.

Fear Rationing
British papers began warning their readers of possible oil rationing and higher food prices because of the increased costs of shipping to and from South Africa.

In South Africa, port officials in Capetown began round-the-clock work to handle the increased shipping they expect as a result of the Suez crisis.

The London Daily Telegraph, a staunch supporter of the government of Prime Minister Eden, said editorially:

"As a device to keep the canal open while international consultations continues its course, in the United Nations or outside, the Users' Association is likely to be stillborn . . .

Next Step
"The next step will be to concert economic measures against (Egypt). What the ministers at Lancaster House (the site of Wednesday's meeting) will have to consider is their readiness to boycott the canal."

At the same time, the Soviet Union warned the western powers they were playing with fire. Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist party, said in an editorial broadcast in English by the Moscow radio:

"The most frank expression of the colonial nature of western policy on Suez may be found in the idea to set up a so-called association of Suez canal users—rightly described in Arab countries as an association for a declaration of war on Egypt."

Nasser already has denounced the western plan as a "declaration of war" and pushed plans for a rival conference on the canal's future.

The United States was reported ready to grant half a billion dollars to Egypt.

Four Negro Students Give Up Trying to Enter Clay School

Clay, Ky., Sept. 17 (AP)—Four negro students gave up their fight to enter Clay Consolidated school today after being informed officially of a county school board order denying them admittance.

After the negroes left, approximately 150 white children returned to class.

The negroes, escorted here by Adj. Gen. J. B. Williams, heard the order on the steps by the school principal, Mrs. Irene Powell. Three of the four negroes attended classes last week at Clay, which was boycotted by the 590 white students.

Mrs. Powell told the Gordon children, James, 10, and Theresa, 14, that the Webster County Board of Education had barred them from entering. The board acted Friday night after the Attorney General's office issued an opinion stating the children were illegally enrolled.

After the order was read, Mrs. James Gordon reached over and shook hands with Mrs. Powell. "Thank you for your kindness," she said. "I'm taking my children back to Rosendale." Mrs.

Catherine Copeland also said her children would return to Rosendale. The school at near-by Providence is for negroes.

Williams said national guardsmen would remain "in Clay for the time being."

Williams and Mayor Herman S. Clark shook hands and smiled after the order was read. "It was very dignified, wasn't it?" the general asked.

"Yes sir, it was," the mayor replied.

A small crowd was on hand when Williams and the negroes drove up to the school. Escorting the students to the front door, Williams told Mrs. Powell: "I brought them to the door so you could read it (the order) here." A few children and teachers stood behind the principal.

Mrs. Gordon declined to say whether she would press a suit planned to be filed at Owensboro asking Federal District Court to require the board to admit negroes to Clay. Previously, James Crumlin, a Louisville Negro attorney associated with the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would represent the Gordon children and their parents in the action.

Local Ground Observer Corps Members Honored at Fourth Anniversary Dinner

Skywatchers of the Ground Observer Corps were honored Saturday night at the fourth anniversary dinner and testimonial of Kingston Post at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Approximately 200 observers and guests were present. More than 100 spotters and post officials received wings, certificates, medals and bars.

A number of guests were present to honor Mrs. G. Dewey Logan, post supervisor, and her skywatchers.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang of Kingston spoke briefly, praising the observers and remarking that he was proud to be one of them.

Maj. H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Ulster Kingston Civil Defense Council, spoke on civil defense and congratulated Mrs. Logan for keeping the local post on a 24-hour watch for the past four years. He presented Mrs. Logan with new GOC arm bands for observers.

Frank Simpson, exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge 550, BPOE, presented the post with an American flag on behalf of the lodge, commending Mrs. Logan and the observers for the fine job of the local post, and expressing the hope that the world would soon be at peace.

Maj. William J. McGrath, chief of the Aircraft Warning Service, New York State Civil Defense Commission, paid special tribute to Mrs. Logan and her staff, pointing out that they had voluntarily and faithfully served for the past seven years and had done a marvelous job.

He pointed out the necessity of maintaining the post round the clock and suggested that observers encourage their friends to join and share the responsibility.

The post was described as outstanding in New York state and possibly the best in the nation. Maj. McGrath attributed its success to the supervisor and her staff. He presented two books to Mrs. Logan as an outstanding supervisor—"Aircraft Badges and Marking" and "World Aircraft Recognition Manual."

Maj. Richard Newell, chief of the Fighter Branch Directorate of Operations Training of the 26th Air Division, spoke on the mission of the command, organization of the 26th Division, the menace, the problem, basic actions of air defense, and future developments and stressed the importance of the GOC. He praised Kingston Post and urged the skywatchers to continue their loyalty to Mrs. Logan in order to keep the post manned 100 per cent.

Maj. Raymond Wendell, GOC coordinator for the state, said he

Five Changes Are Recommended in Youth Court Act

Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Five changes in the state's controversial Youth Court Act were recommended today by the temporary commission on the courts, including postponement of the effective date to Jan. 1958.

John F. Kane, special consultant to the commission, which drew the present legislation, also invited the New York State Publishers Assn. to confer with him about newspaper objections to the act. The commission's recommendations made no mention of newspaper complaints that the act would muzzle the press.

What It Provides

The act, scheduled to take effect next Feb. 1, 1957, provides that persons age 16 through 20 who are charged with crimes may be adjudged youthful offenders and tried in special youth courts, to be established within the county courts.

The judges are authorized to impound records at their discretion, a move that would prohibit publication of the court proceedings.

The commission's new recommendations were made public here at the annual convention of the publishers' group.

In addition to postponing the effective date of the act, the commission proposed:

Restricting the scope of the youth courts to cover only those crimes specified in the penal law and several specific offenses set forth in the act.

Pending Cases Would Stay
Providing that only cases developing after the effective date of the act would be brought into the youth courts. Pending cases would be completed in the courts where they were.

Permitting arraignment of young people covered by the act before a magistrate if a youth court judge were not available.

Permitting youth court judges to impose fines rather than jail sentences.

Postponement of the effective date was proposed to permit time for amendment and time for counties to prepare for inauguration of the act.

Shriners to Meet

Tillson, Sept. 17—Tillson Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., celebrated its 20th anniversary Saturday with a parade and ceremonies in the afternoon and a dance in the evening in the firehall.

17 Nations
lion dollars in loans to western European countries to help them pay the extra cost of detouring their ships around Africa if Egypt turns down the user's plan.

The U. S. offer also would help dollar-short western Europe to buy American and Venezuelan oil to replace oil from the Arab-owned fields of the Middle East.

Secretary of State Dulles will make known the American aid offer when he attends the users' conference opening here Wednesday.

The parley has been called to consider Dulles' plan for organizing a Suez Canal users' association. Under the scheme, announced by Britain's Prime Minister Eden last week, the association would use its own pilots to guide ships through the waterway, collect fees and share the revenue with Egypt.

Schmidt, was led out of the courthouse.

Report on Strikes

Los Angeles, Sept. 17 (AP)—The United Steelworkers of America, beginning their five-day biennial convention today, will hear an executives' report that nationwide strikes in the basic steel industry may no longer be necessary. Last July's steel strike may prove to be the final major labor disturbance in the industry, said the report prepared by President David J. McDonald, Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel and Vice President Howard R. Hague.

Ave Denies It

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Gov. Harriman declared today that the Legislature's Republican leaders were trying to "mislead and scare the people" with their contention that the Harriman administration had endangered the health of New Yorkers by halting tests of cattle for tuberculosis. "The Republican leaders should be ashamed of themselves for their trickery," the Democratic governor said in a statement denying the GOP charge.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)

The stock market put on an irregular performance today with a few specialties standing out in the early afternoon.

The market was higher in the early stages but turned mixed near midday. Chemicals were down, rails were up a shade and most other major divisions were irregular.

Pivotal issues generally moved within a point a share in either direction. A few favored stocks managed gains of 2 to 3 points.

Trading was estimated at around 2,200,000 shares for the day, compared with Friday's 2,100,000 shares. Today's early advance was a carryover from the higher market Friday when railroad issues registered good gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $182.10, with industrials off 40 cents, rails up to 40 cents and utilities up 10 cents. The average advanced $1 on Friday.

The American Stock Exchange was higher and fairly active.

3 Million Voters In Service Now

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Defense Department says there are about three million persons of voting age in or with the armed forces.

But comparatively few of them are expected to take advantage of absentee balloting systems to cast votes in the Nov. 6 presidential election.

Included in the three million total are eligible voters in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force, together with their dependents; Coast Guardsmen and their dependents; civilian employees of the armed forces overseas and their dependents; members of religious and welfare groups officially attached to the armed forces, and their dependents.

The total present strength of the armed forces, including those too young to vote, is about 2,811,000.

Even in 1944, the year of the greatest "soldier vote," only a comparatively small percentage used the absentee ballot. Of about nine million servicemen of voting age then, only about 2½ million cast ballots.

Method Is Simple

The Pentagon, in one of its many pamphlets on why servicemen should vote and how to do it, notes that the absentee voting process "is deceptively simple"—you send for a ballot, mark it and send it back. But then it explains the problems which cause servicemen not to vote. It says:

"The rules under which the simple process must take place are written by each of the 48 states and the five territories and possessions.

Widely Scattered

"The three million affected persons are scattered throughout the world—away from normal sources of information.

"Administering even a simple process for three million individuals can easily become a great burden. This facet of the problem has been immeasurably simplified by two administrative measures which have been in existence since World War 2.

"1. A federal postcard applica-

Generally, the laws of all states except New Mexico allow absentee voting for the armed forces. But the state requirements which determine the qualifications for such voting differ sharply and the Defense Department must deal with them all.

Emmett, Idaho (AP) — Gem county sheriff's officers got set for a small flood when they heard that a two-ton milk truck had overturned at the top of a hill near here. But they relaxed when the driver climbed out of the wreckage. He said the truck contained only one can of sour milk.

Brotherhood Says Rate Restrictions Ruin Railroads

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—The federal government should lift its minimum rate restrictions on U. S. railroads, says the President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

William P. Kennedy of Cleveland, in a speech to some 300 New York state members of the union Saturday, declared:

"It's high time we apply the principle of free enterprise to the operation of railroads."

Kennedy said government regulations placed the railroads in an unfair competitive position.

He also charged that railroads were neglecting passenger service in favor of their freight business. And he blamed this partly on "the unhealthy influence of (railroad) directors and others who are more interested in other forms of transportation."

The head of the 225,000 member union also criticized the Eisenhower administration. Eisenhower appointees to the National Labor Relations Board, he said, "have been persons determined to do whatever they could to destroy the effectiveness of labor unions."

The state union members were holding their 20th annual meeting. Four residents of Syracuse were elected officers for the coming year. They were:

David Wybble, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Clancy, vice chairman; J. B. O'Horn, secretary; and Mrs. Margaret Wynkle, treasurer. Next year's meeting will be held in Syracuse.

Fruit Juice Acid May Help Build Autos of Future

By FRANK CAREY
(AP Science Reporter)

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 17 (AP)—A fruit juice acid may help build your automobile of tomorrow, a report to the American Chemical Society (ACS) indicated today.

A research chemist of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., of Brooklyn said in a report prepared for the society's 130th national convention that citric acid, a natural component of lemon and certain other fruit juices but also produced artificially, is the key to a new method of producing a group of synthetic plastics known as "polyester resins."

Such compounds—previously made by other methods—have been in use for about a decade in the manufacture of certain parts of automobile bodies and in making plastic boat hulls and other plastic structural materials, Charles J. Knuth said.

Cost Figures In
He said citric acid has for some time loomed as a potential new candidate for use in this field because it is "available in high purity at moderate cost."

But until recently, he said, attempts to develop it into a plastic that could be used for structural purposes have not been very successful.

In the new technique, he reported, the basic trick is to combine the acid first with glycol and then with allyl alcohol. He also gave technical details on further chemical treatment of the "base resins."

In another report for the meeting, a Westinghouse scientist said his company has developed a new electrical insulating material for potential use in jet planes and guided missiles. He indicated it holds promise of pushing back the "heat barrier" which limits the performance of those aerial speeders.

Chemists Hear Report
Researcher F. T. Parr told the chemists:

"As the speed of planes and missiles increases, the electronic equipment which guides them has to work faster and therefore uses more energy. Power transformers in particular, which generate quite a lot of heat during normal operation, become extremely hot during their operation at high speeds and frequently cease to function because of insulation failure." Working on that problem, he said, his company has now come up with insulating materials made of so-called "organosilicon" compounds—materials which he said are capable of withstanding temperatures from minus 85 degrees to plus 500 degrees Fahrenheit.

Laboratory tests show, he declared, that the materials not only make possible the construction of power transformers that will operate satisfactorily at temperatures higher than those now permitted, but they also allow the building of much smaller units.

Predicting that such transformers would be able to operate reliably "in any part of the world in which our armed forces may be required to fight," Parr said:

"Our future as a nation is dependent upon just such developments as this. Without continued developments in this field, the United States can not hope to maintain the number one position in the armament race."

MAINE'S DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Whatever psychological advantage goes to the party that draws first blood must be given to the Democrats for their victories in the Maine general election.

Democratic Gov. Edmund Muskie's re-election was, of course, expected, even though this triumph makes him only the second Democrat since the Civil War to win a second term in the State House.

More striking was the certain election of one Democratic congressman and the evident election of a second.

It is necessary to say "evident" because James C. Oliver's margin over incumbent Rep. Robert Hale, Republican, is so small that a recount is inevitable.

If Oliver holds his seat, the Democrats will have taken two of Maine's three congressional berths. It was 1934 when a Democrat was last sent to Congress from that state.

Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall has been cautioning his party against complacency in this campaign. The Maine results should go far toward dispelling that mood among the GOP.

All the Republican candidates in Maine urged strongly that they be supported as a vote of confidence in President Eisenhower. The President himself wrote a letter to a weekly newspaper publisher suggesting that voters in the state should vote for all the Republicans running.

The two GOP senators, Margaret Chase Smith and Frederick Payne, skipped the Republican convention to stay home and battle for the ticket.

Despite these efforts, the Democrats scored. They would be well advised not to assume from this, however, that Mr. Eisenhower himself will suffer defeat in Maine at Adlai Stevenson's hands.

Election history is crammed with evidence that voters' support of congressional or gubernatorial candidates does not necessarily indicate how they will vote for President. As is well known, "Ike" won overwhelmingly in 1952 while the GOP barely squeaked through to control the 83rd Congress.

Muskie's re-election was forecast because in the view of impartial judges his first administration has been successful. He took a generally non-partisan tack, apparently a wise course in a state normally Republican. And most papers, usually with the GOP, either held neutral or praised Muskie.

Muskie may have benefited, too, from the Democrats' determined effort to counter Republican argument that the election would be a test of Mr. Eisenhower's stature. They insisted the election was a local affair.

Having thus insisted, the Democrats might normally find it hard to make convincing claims that the victories of Muskie and the two congressional candidates represent proof of a national trend.

But the fact is that Muskie's margin was much bigger (near 50,000) than in 1954 (21,000). And winning two House seats went well beyond even the Democrats' fondest hopes.

Clearly the Republicans have been put on their mettle for the presidential and congressional battles coming to their climax in the next eight weeks.

EMPLOYMENT RECORD SET

In the month just closed, an all-time record number of 66,800,000 Americans were at work.

That figure, representing an advance of 100,000 over July totals, must be taken as one very positive sign of the continuing basic health of the American economy in 1956.

Even the full flush of peak employment should not cloak, however, the still shaky condition of such industries as automobile and farm implement manufacture. Until they are restored to reasonably high levels of output, the cheering should be somewhat reserved.

Nevertheless, we can welcome this bright sign as the nation enters the brisk months of fall.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE TALE OF THREE STATES

The control of the United States Senate may hinge upon the results of the election in three states, Oregon, Washington and New York. The present line up in the Senate is 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans. In Oregon and Washington the two Democrats, Wayne Morse and Warren Magnuson, are running for re-election. Should they be re-elected it will change nothing in the Senate. In New York State, Herbert Lehman, Democrat, has retired. The contest is between Mayor Robert Wagner, Democrat, and Jacob Javits, Republican. Should Wagner be elected, it will produce no shift in Senate ratios. Should Javits be elected, it will count one up toward a Republican majority.

The three Republicans who are running in these states, Douglas McKay in Oregon, Governor Arthur B. Langlie in Washington and Jacob Javits in New York, were particularly favored by President Eisenhower and are being supported by the Republican National Committee. Douglas McKay was Secretary of the Interior. He has been made the scapegoat in what the Democrats call "the Eisenhower Give-Away Program," by which they mean an avoidance of excessive government ownership of land and properties interfering with private enterprise and the revenue of states from taxation. The conflict in Oregon could be over an issue, government enterprise versus state enterprise.

But into this situation has come the personality of Wayne Morse, a professional type who had served on the National War Labor Board when Franklin D. Roosevelt was President, who came into the United States Senate as a Republican, became a turn-coat in 1952 because he disliked Eisenhower and his associates and is now a Democrat, having the full support of Senator Richard Neuberger whom Morse used to attack bitterly. It will take some doing to defeat Wayne Morse in Oregon who has organized labor and farm support.

In New York, the Democratic candidate is the Mayor of New York City, Robert F. Wagner, the son of the late Senator by the same name who authored the Wagner Act which organized labor has regarded as the charter of American labor. Robert Wagner has made a singularly competent mayor of the very complex New York City and has gained for himself considerable national kudos. All factions of the Democratic Party favored him for Senator; he is also the candidate of the Liberal Party and will have A.F.L.-C.I.O. endorsement. He is a Roman Catholic.

His Republican opponent, Jacob Javits, has been a Member of Congress and is now Attorney General of the State. The Democrats of New York, as products of the Roosevelt Administration, are fully attuned to New Deal thinking; the Republicans are not intellectually so regimented. There are still many conservative Republicans, followers of Robert A. Taft. In some areas, such as Queens and Syracuse, Senator Joe McCarthy continues to have an enormous following. The Republicans can be said to be split between conservatives and liberals, but they all seemed to be united before San Francisco on the program that only the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket could carry New York State. Javits would be representative of the liberal wing of the party and all his recent difficulties with a Senate committee arose from the fact that the conservatives did not want him but had no other practical suggestion to make except Thomas E. Dewey who refused the nomination.

At the Executive Committee meeting in Albany on September 10, where the candidate was selected to be presented as the unanimous choice to the Republican State Committee, eight out of 25 votes were anti-Javits, including Thomas Curran, Chairman of the New York County Committee and Mrs. Preston Davis also of that county in which Javits lives.

Javits in the past has had Liberal Party support; this support now goes to Wagner. But the Liberal Party is to a very large extent Jewish in membership and Javits is a Jew while Wagner is a Roman Catholic. Whether these religious affiliations matter will get you an argument. The election of Javits would mean one Democratic vote less in the Senate.

I have made no references to the fight in Washington between Governor Arthur B. Langlie and Senator Warren Magnuson because that situation has not yet taken on discussable form. In Connecticut, Representative Thomas Dodd, a former FBI man and a very strong anti-Communist, is running against the Republican incumbent, Senator Prescott Bush, an ardent Eisenhower supporter. Connecticut is so influenced by its Governor Abe Ribicoff, that there is no telling how his popularity will affect the Senatorial election. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW IDEAS IN CHRONIC DISEASES

I would like to pass on to my readers some of the newer approaches to chronic diseases as outlined by Dr. Lester Braslow, Chief of Bureau of Chronic Diseases, California State Department of Public Health. Except for the very young people, there are very few of us who have not had a fear of becoming chronically ill in old age and being a burden either to our families or else being "packed off" to some institution. It is practically impossible, so far as I know, to obtain any form of health insurance which would pay for years of chronic illness.

Dr. Lester points out that the most important new idea in chronic disease is that something can be and is being done about it. We no longer consider the chronic diseases—heart disease, hemiplegia (paralysis of one side of the body) from a brain stroke, cancer, diabetes, arthritis and others—as some mysterious "degenerative" or breaking down process about which the physician could do very little. A more hopeful, and realistic view is now taken.

In the mid-19th Century, physicians looked upon tuberculosis with the same fatalism we are now overcome in respect to other chronic illnesses. They called it consumption and regarded it as "weakness of the lungs" in certain families. A member of such a family was simply fated to become ill and perhaps die at an early age because of some factor in his make-up. We have progressed a long way in our understanding of tuberculosis. Perhaps the most significant advances were recognition that the disease could be successfully treated (at first with rest and adequate diet alone) and recognition that the disease had an outside cause (a micro-organism), thus opening the path to prevention.

In the mid-20th Century, the view that the chronic diseases are "degenerative" has no greater justification than did the old-fashioned view of tuberculosis. It is true that our knowledge of some important chronic diseases is quite elementary; micro-organisms appear to play no role in most of them. Still, each year brings new evidence that these diseases arise out of external conditions of life rather than from something within the body. Thus, we now know that rheumatic heart disease is a consequence of uncontrolled infection by streptococcus. Lung cancer is thought by many research workers to be a result of cigarette smoking, certain occupational exposures, and perhaps other factors in our surroundings. Abundance of food, particularly excessive caloric intake in relation to energy requirements in modern life, make us prone to hypertension (high blood pressure), heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases.

Medical science is extending our knowledge and ability to deal with the chronic diseases in two directions—toward better treatment, and prevention. Best known to the practicing physician are the technical advances in treatment; new drugs for hypertension and coronary heart disease; gland treatment for certain forms of cancer; surgical approaches to heart disease and for conly hopeless types of cancer; and radiation; use of X-rays and radium. The use of heat, exercise, and other forms of physical medicine are having great success in treating neuromuscular (nerves and muscles) diseases.

We will continue with chronic disease tomorrow.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Political charges are now in the making that a new round of inflation is again overtaking the country, after a three-year period of relative price stability. The recent steel strike settlement marked the start of this new spiral. Economists do not believe steel industry wage hikes and the increases in steel prices which followed are the sole cause of the new inflation. But they are an important factor. And they are providing the excuse for price rises in many industries which use steel in their products.

The three-year steel wage agreement signed July 27 gave the steel workers an increase of 20 cents an hour the first year, 13 cents an hour more in the second year and another 13 cents in the third year. It raises the average hourly steel wage from $2.66 an hour last year to $3.12 in 1958-59.

Shortly after the contract went into effect, the steel companies raised their prices by $8.50 a ton. This boosted the composite steel price average from $130 to $138.50 a ton according to "Iron Age," authoritative industry trade paper. Some steel company officials say this figure is too low, and that the raise is really from $138.50 to $147 a ton average.

THE IMPORTANT QUESTION, however, is how much of this price increase can be directly attributed to the wage increase. Neither the Iron and Steel Institute nor any of the individual steel companies have released any figures to justify the $8.50 per ton increase. The demand for steel is so great that users are accepting the price rise without protest.

Public Affairs Institute has been digging into this subject, however. One of the PAI economists, Stephen Raushenbush, has come up with figures that the industry's new wage contract will increase the labor item in steel-making costs by only $2 a ton for this year, $2.50 a ton next year and $3.10 a ton for the last contract year.

If the industry's announced price increase of $8.50 a ton is not advanced still further in the next three years, it means that the new wage increase can be charged with only 23 per cent of the price increase the first year, 29 per cent the second year and 36 per cent the third year.

RAUSHENBUSH ESTIMATES that if steel production runs from 116 to 120 million tons in the next three years, the industry will receive increased gross revenues of over three billion dollars. Of this, about 30 per cent can be charged off to meet wage increases. The other 70 per cent will have to be assigned to other causes, or to increased profits.

No figures are available on the increased prices of materials, transportation and other cost items going into steel production and marketing. But it is in this area, between the $2 to $3 a ton steel labor cost increase and the $8.50 a ton increase in steel selling prices, that the inflationary threat lies.

WITHIN A MONTH after the new steel wage contract was signed, other industries which are big steel users announced price increases on their products. The new 1957 model automobiles will be from $50 to $200 higher. Two big truck companies have announced increases. One

Stevenson's Gibe on Loss Of Congress Called Boner

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 17 — Who ever helps Adlai Stevenson prepare his speeches or whoever writes them for him certainly pulled a "boner" when the Democratic Presidential nominee was politically "brainwashed" by his "regency" into making the following statement in his speech at Harrisburg:

"Why is President Eisenhower the first President in this century to lose control of Congress in his first elected term?"

Now a glance at the history books will show that November, 1910 is in this century and that William Howard Taft, a Republican who had been elected in 1908, was then serving his "first elected term." But the House of Representatives went Democratic in the middle of that term.

It may be argued by the Stevenson speech writers that, after all, Mr. Taft didn't lose control of all of Congress but only of a single house and that Adlai really meant loss of control of both houses. But, if that's the definition, then Mr. Eisenhower didn't "lose control" of Congress either. For in November, 1954 only the House of Representatives went Democratic. It will be recalled that the Senate was a tie and that the Republican Vice-President would have been able to exercise control for the Republican party had it not been for the action—three months after the 1954 election—of Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who during the six-year term for which he was originally elected in 1950 as a Republican decided of his own accord to turn on his own party and vote with the Democrats.

Quibble Puzzling

The Stevenson quibble about the loss of control of Congress in a "first elected term" seems puzzling because, if loss of control of Congress means a lack of confidence in a President in mid-term, it would seem to have been much more to the point to say that, whenever it happens during any term, it's a sign of political unrest in the electorate.

To have conceded this, however would have spoiled the trick of the Stevenson speechwriters. For they would have had to admit that in this century two Democratic Presidents—Wilson in 1918 and Truman in 1946—lost control of both houses of Congress, while two Republican Presidents—Taft in 1910 and Eisenhower in 1954—lost control of only one house as a result of a congressional election. When Herbert Hoover, Republican, during his "first elected term" lost control of the House of Representatives, it wasn't a result of the congressional election of November 1930 but due to deaths and replacements after the election so that he, too, had a Democratic House during the last two years of his "first elected term."

Score on Losses

So the score is that Democratic administrations have lost both houses of Congress twice in this century, while the Republicans during the same period have never lost both houses in mid-term but have three times suffered the loss of one house. What is most significant, however, is why these defeats occurred. All of them, irrespective of party, were due to the same thing—a protest based on economic irritations, including wartime controls. In 1910 it was the "high cost of living." In 1918 it was wartime restrictions. In 1930 it was the big depression. In 1946 it was food controls, particularly meat. In 1954 it was economic recession. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles, Sept. 16—There have been many wide-eyed references to Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, in connection with Harold Stassen's mysterious campaign to dump Richard Nixon off the Republican ticket. The New York Times is too, too naive about this because the Times knows all there is to be known about Goldsmith and his machinations conducted from a hotel suite, which is also his dwelling, in the same pillar on Park Avenue which is the residence of Herbert Hoover and General MacArthur. James Reston, the chief of the Times' Washington-Bureau, pretends to know nothing about Goldsmith and this seems to be the editorial policy of the paper.

Another Times story hinted that the chief or only suspicion of Goldsmith came from Gerald L. K. Smith, of Los Angeles. However, the fact is that Smith did not poke this phoney dragon out of his cave and expose him to public view.

I am the one who poked him out. He now says, in the quote published by the Times: "I am mysterious only to would-be wits, dim-wits and half-wits." Well, five years ago I challenged Goldsmith to give an account of himself, and his backing and expenditures for political candidates and causes and he ducked back into his hole. He said he would answer no questions put orally whether by phone or face-to-face, but would answer questions put in writing. I immediately wrote some questions and sent them to him and I have yet to hear a word from him.

Horsepark Herbie Swope, Bernie Baruch's old press-agent and author of his publicity title of elder statesman, then told Goldsmith that very mystery which Goldsmith now denies the existence of. Of course Goldsmith was in on Stassen's raid and it is silly to believe Ike doesn't know the facts. He and his mysterious, letter-head political fronts financed a campaign for the radical Democrat, Matt Neely, of West Virginia, against Chapman Revercomb, a Republican senator, and helped to kick the Republican out of the Senate for the sole reason that Revercomb had helped to write and enact an immigration law for the benefit of the United States.

I can tell you also, that Goldsmith sent money to New Hampshire to support Senator Tobey, a left-wing Republican, and that he imported George Franklin, of Nevada, to his mysterious political plant in the tower and adopted him for $5,000 worth of political backing against Pat McCarran in 1950. Like Revercomb, McCarran had helped to enact an immigration law, McCarran also had put through a "security" law which earned him the hatred of all those who hated Joe McCarthy.

Now we come to the sensitive fact that when Dick Nixon was on the House Committee on Un-American Activities, he, too, like McCarran and McCarthy, put himself on Goldsmith's list for the same reason.

Ere leaving George Franklin, I would report that Franklin recently told me all about his pilgrimage to the Waldorf Tower at Goldsmith's invitation and expense and admitted that Goldsmith sent $5,000 to Nevada to dump McCarran in that primary. McCarran won. Franklin has now swung away from the Goldsmith cult and has fought them in Las Vegas at great personal expense and pain. He refused to touch a nickel of Goldsmith's $5,000 himself but says it was sent in from the Waldorf Tower and spent in his behalf.

Altogether, Goldsmith's activity deepens the mystery of President Eisenhower's strange "tribute" to him, a sort of diploma contrived by the present Senator Case, of New Jersey, and Congressman Hugh Scott, of Pennsylvania, after Ike's two brothers, Milton and Arthur, had spent ten days conferring with Goldsmith in the tower. After all, Ike, Case and Scott are supposed to be Republicans whereas Goldsmith seems to be anything else but.

I doubt that any of this is unknown to The New York Times. It certainly is not unknown to Nixon. (Copyright, 1956 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Named Division Chairman in '56 Chest Campaign

J. W. ZACKMEYER

Heading the neighborhood division in this year's Community Chest-Red Feather campaign will be James W. Zackmeyer of 52 Lounsbery Place.

His appointment was announced during the weekend by Paul F. Steinkuller, general campaign chairman.

Is IBM Employee

A native of Brookland, Ark., Mr. Zackmeyer is coordinator of customer engineering at IBM's Electric Typewriter Division plant here. He was employed by IBM in 1945 and has held various positions in the corporation's installations at St. Louis, Rochester and Poughkeepsie prior to coming to Kingston in July, 1955. He was president of the IBM Club at St. Louis in 1950 and a member of Masons IBM Country Club. He is married and has a daughter, Ann, six and one-half years old.

The neighborhood division combines the functions of last year's residential and suburban divisions and is planning to canvass homes in the city of Kingston, town of Ulster, Hurley and Esopus.

Two-day Drive

The neighborhood portion of the drive will be conducted Sept. 29 and 30, following a parade the evening of Sept. 28. The advance gift division is already underway, and other divisions will begin their solicitation Sept. 23. W. Henry Haltermann, director of promotion, has announced plans for a public rally at the George Washington School at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 24.

Water Consumption

Consumption of water in the United States has risen from 50 gallons per person per day in 1850 to 1,000 gallons per person per day at present.

Gift for Ike

Orbach, Germany, Sept. 17 (AP)—A German pottery firm is sending President Eisenhower a pair of handpainted red and black gift plates recalling an ancestor from this section of Germany. Local historians say that one of the President's ancestors, Hans Nikolaus Eisenhauer, emigrated from nearby Eiterbach to America in 1741. One of the plates shows the reconstructed Eisenhauer house. The other displays the family coat of arms, a smith dressed in medieval garments.

Adult Education To Offer Courses On Radioactivity

More than 1,000,000 New York State adults will learn the facts about radioactive fallout this year through their local public school adult education programs, Dr. James E. Allen, Jr., State commissioner of Education, announced today.

The plan is to bring to adults a topic known to few, understood by fewer and yet of grave concern to all, the commissioner said.

The course was suggested by the Board of Regents, who strongly advocate the teaching of science in adult education classes as well as in the regular schools.

Two Hour Course

R. J. Pulling, chief of the Bureau of Adult Education of the State Education Department, and Lieutenant Colonel Raymond R. Hunter, the Department's coordinator of Civil Defense for Schools, have arranged for a two-hour course in radioactive fallout to be offered this school year to adults in more than 600 public school adult education programs. Assisting also are the New York State Civil Defense Commission, the Federal Civil Defense Administration, the 610 local adult education advisory committees and local public school directors of Adult Education and the 85 city and county directors of civil defense.

The purpose of this concentrated study in radioactive fallout in the public school adult education programs is threefold:

1. To bring facts to citizens which will be instrumental in shaping attitudes toward science in a nuclear age.
2. To influence helpfully the behavior of citizens in case of disaster.
3. To demonstrate that in New York State a means exists through the 610 local adult education program for carrying important information to a large number of adults in a minimum time.

Retail Merchants Parley Sept. 23

The New York State Council of Retail Merchants will conduct its 24th Annual conference at Grossinger's, Sept. 23-25. Advance registrations indicate a record attendance of retail merchants from all points of the state, representing stores of every size and type of operation.

G. Stanton, Jr., of Monticello, a director of the statewide retail council and chairman of the Attendance Committee, said all retailers, whether members of the Council or not, are welcome to attend the entire conference or any part of the three-day session, as well as to participate in the golf tournament being conducted at Grossinger's as a part of the retail program. Reservations may be made with him at the A. G. Stanton & Co. Hardware in Monticello or through the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

The program will commence Sunday morning with registration, followed by social activities and ending with a reception for Council President John P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy. Business sessions will start off the program on Monday with the annual meeting and elections scheduled for the morning. New York State Industrial Commissioner Leader Lubin will be guest speaker at lunch. Edward T. Dickinson, commissioner, New York State Department of Commerce and Paul Eager, widely known retail management consultant and analyst, will appear on the program.

Panel on Problems

A close examination of local retail problems will be made through a novel panel program slated for Tuesday morning. Three leading chamber of commerce executives will discuss the subject, "Local Retail Organizations at the Crossroads." Chamber of commerce staff executives who have won recognition for their work in the retail field and who will constitute the panel include Albert Kurtz, Manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce; David L. Turner, Exec.-Vice President, Troy Chamber of Commerce and Robert M. Young, Staff Associate, Albany Chamber of Commerce.

"Personnel Problems and Retail Unionization" is the subject to be discussed at another forum. Speakers on this panel include Professor Robert F. Riseley, New York State School of Industrial & Labor Relations, Cornell University; James G. Michaux, Labor Relations Counsel, American Retail Federation and Fred C. Fischer, Vice-President, Personnel, R. H. Macy & Co.

Dr. James E. Allen, Commissioner, New York State Department of Education will be the speaker at Tuesday's luncheon. The Annual Banquet on Tuesday will be preceded by a reception. Mr. Stanton said the program should be of interest to all retailers and urges attendance. Entertainment in the form of a Grand Ball and a special program of Broadway talent will follow the Banquet. The final evening, Tuesday, will be the highlight of the entire meeting.

Ellender Asked To Retract His View About Aid

Seoul, Sept. 17 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee called today on U. S. Sen. Ellender (D-La.) to retract his statement that South Korea and some other nations receiving U. S. aid are "blood-suckers."

"Such remarks should be retracted," Rhee told a news conference. "It is indecent. It is not right to say such a thing about a whole people."

Ellender, currently on a tour of Korean reconstruction projects, is scheduled to meet with Rhee Tuesday.

The Louisiana lawmaker, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, told newsmen on his arrival Saturday that "a great number of countries we are helping are not trying to help themselves to the extent they should. They are blood-suckers."

Ellender singled out South Korea, Nationalist China and South Viet Nam particularly.

Black Out Beacon

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—A bright beacon atop the Empire State Building has been blacked out to prevent fatal crackups by southbound birds. Bird lovers feared the dazzling light would charm thousands of night-flying birds off course and send them crashing into the skyscraper or each other. The building management announced yesterday that the powerful stationary beam will stay dark until Nov. 1 and the end of the migrating season.

Lines, Pilots Differ

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) proposal to require airlines to operate 75 per cent of their schedules on time has been endorsed by the airline pilots but strongly opposed by most of the airlines. A safety expert of the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) also opposed the plan, on which the CAB will conduct oral argument on Sept. 26. W. B. Davis, director of the CAA office of aviation safety, said in comments filed with the CAB that the proposal "could have adverse effects on safety by exerting undue pressure on the operation and maintenance personnel." Davis recommended that the proposal not be adopted.

Stand Collapses

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—A special reviewing stand collapsed at the President's Cup regatta yesterday, injuring at least 35 persons, none of them critically. Officials said the stand apparently gave way when the approximately 600 persons on it leaped to their feet at the start of the final heat of the power boat races. The wooden platform was about 50 feet long and 3 feet high.

To Hold Clinics For New Vehicle Inspection Law

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 17—Clinics designed to acquaint prospective station owners with the provisions of the new periodic motor vehicle inspection law passed by Legislature last April is scheduled for Tuesday at 10 a. m. in the State Armory in Poughkeepsie, and at 2 p. m. in the State Armory in Middletown.

Stage Demonstrations

A team of Motor Vehicle Bureau representatives and State Police will stage an actual demonstration of an inspection and will answer questions concerning the law and the operation of the stations during the meeting. The team is headed by Elmer M. Lane, director of Motor Vehicle inspection, and Lt. Charles Mink, traffic supervisor for the State Police.

Private garages, service stations, repair shops and auto dealers who can comply with space and other regulations are eligible to be licensed under the new law which modifies the one passed in 1954. Actual inspections under the present law will begin Feb. 1, 1957, in order that all cars and trucks more than four years of age may be inspected before they are registered for the 1958 licensing period.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly points out that there will be no limitation to the number of inspection stations and expects that there will be between 7,000 and 8,000 ready to begin official inspections by February 1.

Seniors May Take Navy ROTC Test

The 11th annual national competitive examinations for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps will be given to interested high school seniors on December 8, it was announced today by Vice Admiral James A. Holloway, Jr., chief of naval personnel.

Application forms are now available and must be received before November 17, he said.

May Earn Commission

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the Navy's far-flung fleets. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

High school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a rigid physical exam early in 1957. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 2,000 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marines. Separate quotas are established for applicants from within these services. Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges, Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D. C.

Money in Shoe

Boston, Sept. 17 (AP)—Six hundred dollars reportedly lost by a California couple apparently did not stray very far. Boston police got a call yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Bowen of Pasadena, Calif. They were at Hartford, Conn., and said they lost the money while in Boston. A few hours later, police reported, the Bowens called again, this time from Norwalk, Conn., to say the money was found in one of Mrs. Bowen's shoes.

Stark Is Candidate If Wagner Gets Post

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—City Council President Abe Stark said in a ship-to-shore interview yesterday that he would be a candidate next year for a full term as mayor if Mayor Robert F. Wagner is elected U. S. Senator in November.

If Wagner is elected as the Democratic-Liberal party nominee for senator, Stark would automatically succeed to the mayoralty to serve the remaining year of Wagner's four-year term.

Stark, also a Democrat, told the New York Herald Tribune from the New York-bound liner Queen Mary in the Atlantic that he would be a candidate for mayor if Wagner goes to the Senate.

Stark and his wife, Lilyan, left New York Aug. 17 and visited Israel, Italy, France and England. The Starks were in Venice when word arrived that Wagner had agreed to run for the Senate. Stark then cut his trip short.

Present wage rates were not disclosed. The office union claims 500 members at Alcoa's Massena plant, where there are about 6,000 production workers.

Chickens, Clams Combined In Classic Cape Cod Dish

TENDER, SWEET little clams add an unforgettable flavor when combined with chicken and mushrooms.

By GAYNOR MADDON

NEA Food and Markets Editor With chicken plentiful, appetites picking up and school started, this inspired recipe is right in season.

Up New England way where clams are plentiful, cooks use the sweet little mollusks in everything from chowder to pie. This delicious chicken and clam combination is one of the finest.

For company serving, both chicken and sauce can be fixed ahead of time and put together in a serving casserole at the last minute. A final warm-up in the oven will do it no harm.

Cape Cod Chicken (Makes 4 servings)

Three-pound broiler, cut up in serving pieces, 1/2 cup enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon mace, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms, one 10 1/2-ounce can minced clams, 1 cup rich milk or light cream.

Wash chicken and dry thoroughly. Place flour and seasoning in a paper bag. Shake each piece of chicken in the bag until well coated. Reserve remaining flour. Melt butter over moderate heat in a 9-inch heavy, covered frying pan. Brown chicken until golden brown. Cover pan and continue cooking until chicken is tender, about 20 minutes. Uncover and cook 10 minutes until chicken becomes crisp.

Meanwhile, empty contents of cans of mushrooms and clams into a saucepan and cook over moderate heat until hot, about 10 minutes. Gradually add milk or cream to 2 tablespoons of the remaining seasoned flour which has been placed in a small mixing bowl or cup. Pour milk and flour mixture slowly into clam mixture and cook until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Remove chicken to platter or casserole and keep warm. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of butter from the frying pan. Pour sauce into frying pan and stir until well blended. Spoon sauce over chicken and serve immediately.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pineapple cup, Cape Cod chicken, buttered noodles, carrots, cucumber salad, hot rolls, butter or margarine, ice cream with fruit sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

Jayne Returns

Hollywood, Sept. 17 (AP)—Actress Jayne Mansfield is back in town. The busty blonde flew in yesterday with an entourage that included her 5-year-old daughter, Jayne Marie, weight-lifter Mickey Hargitay and two Chihuahua dogs—Phillip and Charlesa. Jayne, unnoticed in Hollywood before she hit the jackpot in Broadway's "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter," told newsmen at the airport: "I'm grateful to New York for what it did for me, but now that I'm back here I want to stay 99 years." She begins work on the film, "Do Re Mi," with Tom Ewell.

Bad Chicken

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17 (AP)—That chicken John Giancola fried yesterday as a present to his mother on her 89th birthday tasted pretty good to them...until Giancola's wife came home from work. She discovered Giancola had fried the chicken in grease into which she had mixed mouse poison. Giancola, 54, and his mother were rushed to hospitals and given antidotes. Both responded quickly and were discharged.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I see in the Kingston Freeman of Thursday, September 13, that the DDD Society is going to be revived, which flourished in the early 1900's. It consisted of doctors, dentists and druggists. I have some of the group pictures taken of those "DDD Clambakes" as far back as 1910. I see one was taken by Bill Longyear and two by Du Flon the professional photographers. They all have beautiful wooded backgrounds, as they were the real old fashioned clambakes, some folks sitting on benches made from long boards nailed to tree limbs.

Some of the doctors, dentists and druggists reclined right on the grass. They seemed a happy lot of men, from very young to quite elderly men. You can see the old-fashioned cars in the background, and some had their chauffeurs in the picture.

The only women represented were the girls who served the food, otherwise it was strictly for the professional men. Not that there were no women doctors in those days, for there was Dr. Mary Gage Day of 207 Wall street. She was the school physician in my day, and I do not see her on any of the pictures.

I do hope they will again take group pictures but this time have the names, addresses and professions of each one on the picture printed somewhere. There are names on my pictures, I just have to guess around. I know where my father is on each picture, and the rest is guest work. No doubt Carl Weber, Rondout pharmacist could tell me the names of most of the men.

Anyway, they are a contented, relaxed crowd, the like of which you simply do not see around any more in this modern hustle world of ours today. There is no tenseness or hurry, or even that professional air about these men. Just a friendly group having an outing on a nice sunny day.

I have these pictures because my father is on them, being a pharmacist. I remember in later years when he used to go and bring me cooked lobsters which I used to break into at the well stone in Port Ewen. I know he always had a good time and that sometimes it was held at Lake Katrine. At that time he was young enough to ride a bicycle and went all over with it, and so went to the clambake.

Charles McBride a pharmacist of 634 Broadway hitched the bicycle on the running board and gave my father a ride home. My father told me that Mr. McBride used to like to drive very fast, or as fast as the car would go, and his son used to urge him on "faster, faster! It will go faster than that." The sons of the professional men were there and also the men who worked in drug stores.

I do not remember how the organization dropped its clambakes, but my father always hoped it would be revived. I can only recognize several of the men on those pictures because they were taken so long ago, and old-fashioned clothes made them look so different. Dr. A. A. Stern is there, Carl Weber, pharmacist was a youth and usually sat on the grass in the front row. Henry C. Connelly, Rondout pharmacist is one of the hand-somest men. William S. Eltinge of 34 John St. at the time is there, next to him. Fred Dennis, Rondout pharmacist is on one picture. On one picture I see Dr. Cornelius H. Bishop dentist of 29 E. Strand. I remember he lived in Sleightsburg. Dr. Le- vitas had his dental office at 37 Broadway at the time, he is in the pictures.

Chairman Named To Study Laws on Reds

Albany, Sept. 17 (AP)—Whitlaw Reid of Purchase, New York Herald Tribune board chairman, has been named by Gov. Harriman as chairman of a five-member committee to recommend ways of overhauling state laws against subversives in government.

The governor also appointed yesterday: Irving M. Engel, Manhattan lawyer and president of the American Jewish Committee; Allen T. Klots of Syosset, former president of the New York City Bar Assn.; Myles J. Lane of Brooklyn, a former U. S. Attorney, and Charles J. Tobin Jr. of Albany, a lawyer active in the state bar association. The unsalaried panel has been named the committee on public employe security procedures.

Harriman said the state law and civil service departments would cooperate in the study.

The governor said that it was "imperative that we keep Communists out of public agencies and at the same time that we preserve the basic constitutional rights" of state and local employes.

Paper Workers Vote Out Million Offer

Mechanicville, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—The 930 production and maintenance workers of United Mine Workers Local 12,915 yesterday rejected a "million dollar" contract offer by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.

Victor Guilianelli, local president, said the members, who have been striking since July 27, had voted "about four to one" against the offer. He would not say how many workers had voted.

George N. Hoover Jr., mill manager, said the offer was "among the very best made in the entire paper industry this year."

Hoover said the wage increase and other benefits would boost pay of Mechanicville workers about a million dollars a year.

"This offer surpasses those granted by any competitive mills in this area and is at least on a par with the best that has been granted by the most modern and competitive mills in the entire country," Hoover said.

The company gave no breakdown of the offer.

A company spokesman said the status of new negotiations was not clear. Guilianelli said "we are always willing to talk."

Pre-strike wages ranged from $1.55 to $2.22 an hour.

INTEREST RATES BOOST VALUES

The Federal Reserve Board's recent action in increasing the discount rate turns the spotlight on the commercial banks in America. Interest rates have gone up all along the line. The markups run from around one quarter of 1 per cent to 1 per cent a year.

Ten of the country's big banks—from coast to coast—are in Boston, the First National Bank; in New York City, Chase-Manhattan, Chemical-Corn-Exchange, First National City and Guaranty Trust; in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia National Bank; in Detroit, the National Bank of Detroit; in Chicago, the Continental-Illinois and the First National; and in Los Angeles, the Security First National Bank.

The demand deposits of these ten great institutions total around $27,000,000,000. They get the use of this money free. Banking legislation passed 20 years ago freed commercial banks from paying interest on checking accounts.

Banks' Working Funds

What do the banks do with these gigantic deposits? They put them to work, of course. And with most of these banks, two items constitute the bulk of the working funds—loans and discounts, and government securities.

In the latest available reports, the total loan and discount figures of these banks show advances of $15,084,000,000. Government securities amounted to $6,866,000,000. Thus, of the approximately 27 billions of demand deposits carried by the institutions, nearly 22 billions were invested in these two places.

Now when interest rates advance, bank earnings increase. Of course, if banks sell securities at a loss to get money to lend out at higher rates to their customers, these increased earnings must absorb the losses.

For some reason bank stocks are not too popular. They have had to live down the bad reputation they got in the depression thirties when many banks failed and stockholders were assessed to make up the losses.

If bank shares were more popular, there would have been a buying wave in them when the recent Federal Reserve Board action was taken.

Bank Shares

Bank shares deserve a wide popularity. The banking business is one of the most stable in America. Personnel turnover is very small. Strikes are virtually unknown. Men and women make banking a career.

But, above all, the most novel thing about commercial banks is that they get the use of their principal commodity—demand deposits—for nothing.

Two New York City banks each have demand deposits of around $5,000,000,000. When interest rates advance one quarter of 1 per cent or one half of 1 per cent a year, earnings increase very rapidly.

Bank shares have always constituted my own stable, high-grade investment. They are admirable for all those conservative investors who, while inclined to hold high-grade, low-yielding bonds, nevertheless want to buy a sound security paying a higher return and carrying growth.

Few banks pay out more than 50 to 60 per cent of their earnings in dividends. As a result, bank equities grow larger year by year and this condition is often reflected in the market price of the shares.

Safety Is Big Factor In '57 Automobiles

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Detroit—(NEA)—This town's auto makers are disenchanted with safety as a selling pitch.

Last year Ford started out making safety the keynote of its advertising. At the same time Chevrolet concentrated on plugging style, more power and playing up all the stock car races it was winning.

The result was that Chevy moved far ahead of Ford in sales. Ford had to rejigger its safety campaign in a hurry, in favor of pushing performance.

"Safety is a slow-burning theme; it is not an action theme and it does not appear to create an emotional urge to buy," explains Edward E. Rothman, Ford's advertising director.

Despite the lack of sales appeal in safety, pressure by Congress and safety groups in the U. S. had had its effect on the new '57 cars.

Aside from the controversy over whether increased horsepower is safer or more dangerous, '57 models will be the safest the industry has ever turned out.

The recent appearance in the motor capital of a Congressional sub-committee investigating highway safety, headed by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.), brought out all the pro-horsepower arguments.

All firms gave the committee convincing demonstrations that increased power reduces the time a driver has to spend on the wrong side of the road while passing and increases the speed of getting across dangerous intersections.

However, the other side of the horsepower coin is brought out by many safety organizations. A racy pick-up can be a deadly weapon in the hands of irresponsible teen-agers, or when any incompetent driver is behind the wheel, it is pointed out.

Regardless of the merits of this debate the fact is all cars have more power this year, although it will not be harped on in ads as much as it has in the past.

The adoption of four headlights by many makes for the '57s is rated an important safety advance. The extra set gives the driver "brights" with less glare in the eyes of oncoming cars.

Chrysler has run extensive wind tunnel tests at the University of Detroit and comes up with the conclusion that the high fins, also featured on most '57s, actually add driving stability.

Also in the category of a major-style-safety advance is the lowering of cars several inches in the new models. This lowers the center of gravity of an auto, increases its "road hugging" characteristics and makes it safer on turns.

Chrysler is up with an improved brake on several of its models. It's called a "center-plane brake" and is supposed to distribute the wear and braking force uniformly over the lining. "It gives as much as 20,000 more miles of brake lining wear, requires one-quarter less pedal effort and is capable of making up to six successive high-speed 'panic' stops which is twice as many as the conventional brake," claims a Chrysler spokesman.

Chrysler is also attaching rear seat cushions securely to the frame in many of its new models as a safety feature.

In addition to these new safety features, most of the industry will follow Ford in offering padded dashboards, padded sun visors, safety steering wheels, safety door latches and seat belts in the '57 cars.

John O. Moore, director of Automotive Crash Injury Research at Cornell University, reports that severe chest injuries in accidents have been reduced 50 per cent by the safety steering wheel. The other safety devices have had similar positive results during the past year, he finds.

Delay in Opening Power Projects May Cause Curbs

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Chairman Robert Moses of the New York Power Authority said today that a delay in the opening of St. Lawrence river hydroelectric projects "may well result" in serious power shortages upstate in 1958-59.

He said in a hard-hitting letter to Administrator Lewis G. Castle of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. That if schedules were to be maintained, the seaway agency had no alternative but to arrange for the abandonment of a New York Central railroad line over the river.

Moses said new railroad facilities could not be built before the scheduled competition date of both seaway and power projects—July 1, 1958.

The chairman said commitments for power had been made, customers were planning operations and the authority had sold $335 million dollars in revenue bonds. He said the power agency, "unlike the seaway corporation," did not have government appropriations or public credit in back of it.

Renews Objections

He renewed earlier objections to plans for a high-level bridge over the St. Lawrence at Cornwall Island. Moses has held the bridge would delay both seaway and power projects. The seaway agency has denied this.

The chairman told Castle: "We propose to see that nothing will interfere with the opening of the (Power) project on time and its successful operation."

Moses said the Power Authority had been "astounded" to learn there was no agreement between the Seaway Agency and the New York Central on the road's facilities over the river.

The Seaway Corporation and its Canadian counterpart announced several weeks ago that it had scrapped plans for a system of bridges, including railroad tracks, because the Central planned to abandon the line in question. The high-level bridge was then proposed.

The chairman quoted president Albert Perlman of the New York Central railroad as saying the railroad would not apply for permission to abandon the line until it had reached agreement with the Seaway Corporation on other railroad facilities affected by the project.

Statements Given

Moses' letter contained these statements to Castle:

"... We feel we are entitled to more than mere assertions that your phase of the project will be completed on time."

"You have allowed so much time to be wasted..."

"Now that abandonment of the railroad is the only solution, what are you going to do about it?"

"You have proceeded in an arbitrary, bureaucratic fashion with utter disregard for state's right and local requirements."

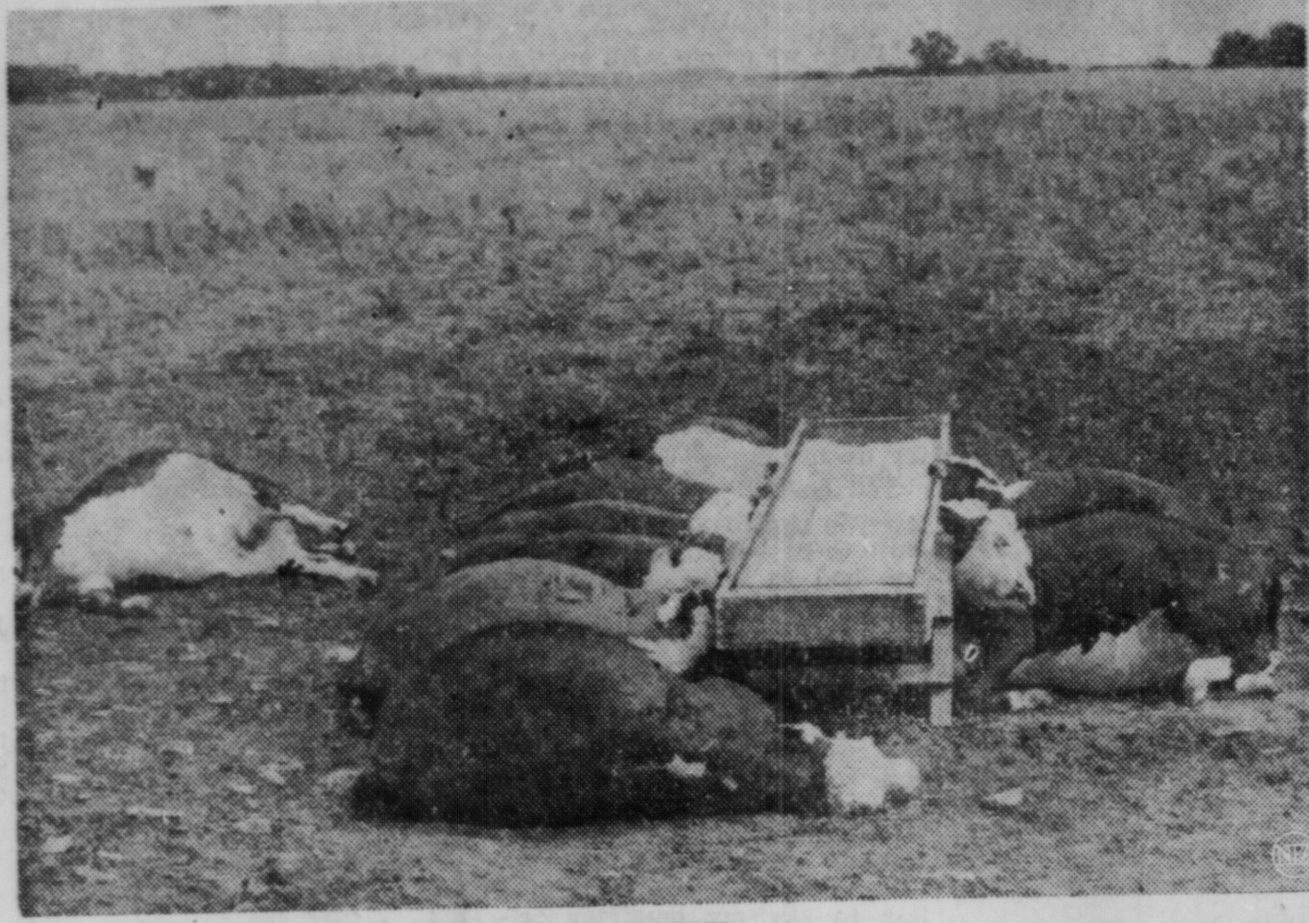

"We must open this project on time."

"You must know, of course, that you cannot get away with statements that you have saved two million dollars."

Castle spent the weekend on Wellesley Island near Alexandria Bay, at a meeting of the Seaway Advisory Board.

It was announced the corporation would ask an additional 17 million dollars from the budget bureau. That would bring the cost to 121 million dollars. The original estimate was 105 million.

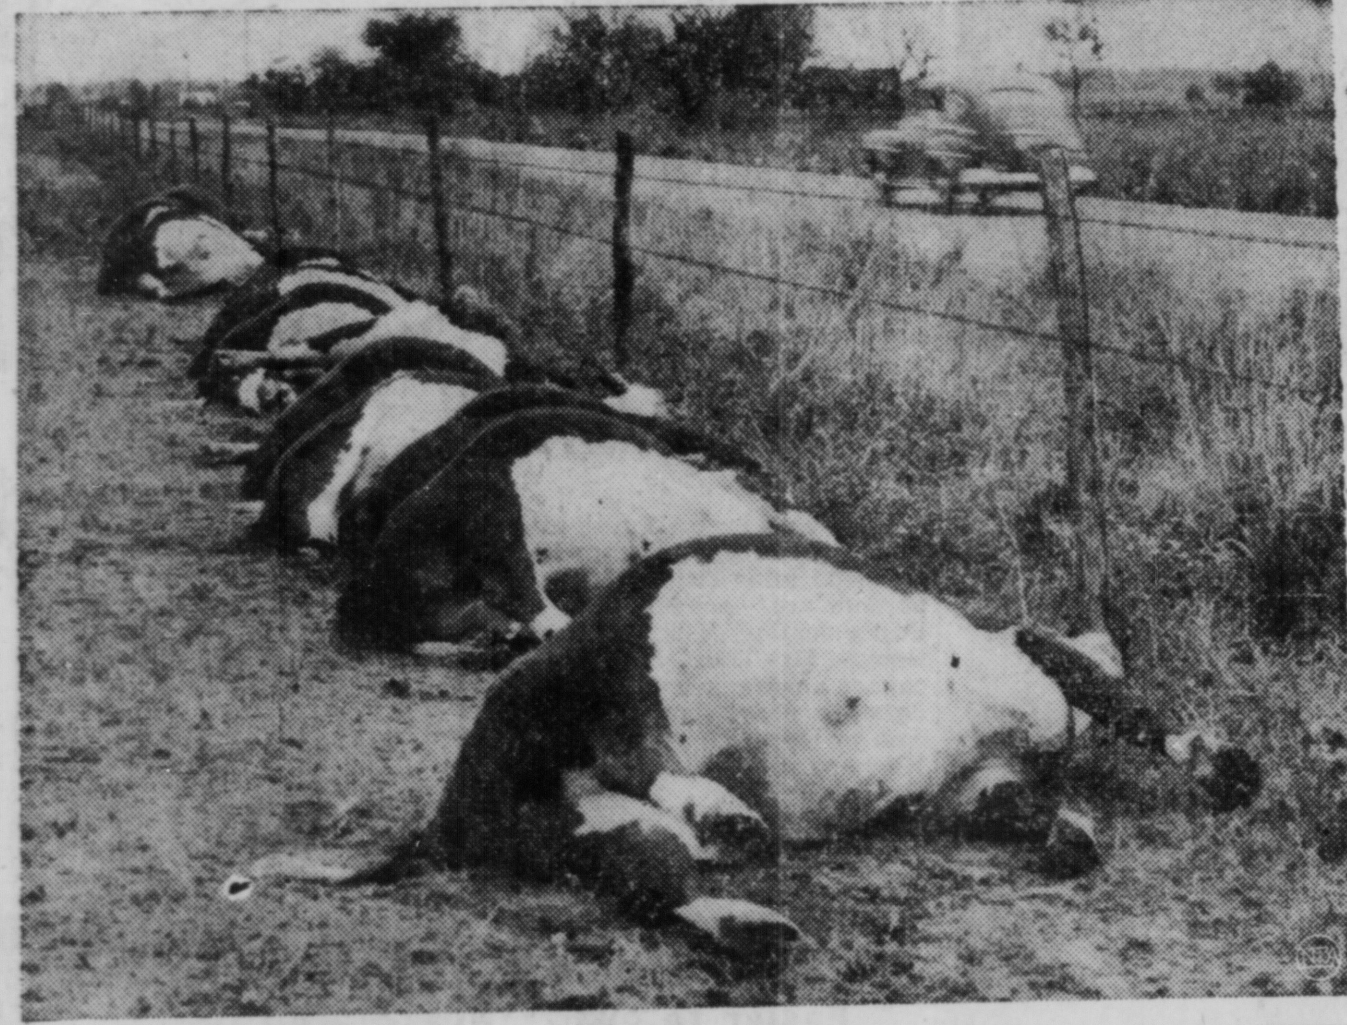

The seaway officials said the new appropriation was needed to meet rises in costs between planning and actual construction.

DEATH COMES TO DINNER—

Vicious late-summer thunderstorms which recently swept southeastern Kansas dealt mass death to cattle. Gathered around their feed trough above, these cattle died instantly when lightning struck on the farm of Lee A. Perkins, near Richmond. They are some of the 13 dead killed among 55 feeding at the time. Others were knocked down, but revived. And, below, 14 registered Herefords met death from a single bolt on the Morris Barnes farm near West Mineral, as they huddled along a roadside fence.

Proper Bid Would Defeat

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Something was wrong with East's bidding in today's hand, but the mistake is not apparent at first glance.

West opened the king of clubs, considering this his safest opening lead because of his partner's opening bid. As it turned out, the lead was far from safe.

South won with the ace of clubs, drew trumps with one lead, cashed the top hearts, ruffed a heart, and took the queen of clubs. He then led a diamond and crossed his fingers.

South's luck held East had to win with the singleton ace of diamonds, and then had to return either a heart or a club. In either case, dummy could ruff while South discarded the last losing diamond.

South thus made his slam contract and the rubber, for a total score of 1630 points.

Now we can return to East's bad bidding. There was nothing wrong with his bid of four clubs. It was bold, of course, but it had the effect of cramping the bidding of the opponents. In fact, it helped push the opponents to an unmakeable slam.

East's mistake took place when he passed the bid of six spades. He should have doubled to demand a lead in some suit other than clubs. There was no risk of a redouble, considering the way the opponents had stumbled into the slam. If the double turned out badly, therefore, it would cost only 230 points.

With a diamond or heart opening lead, South would almost surely be set two tricks. East would therefore be plus 500 instead of minus 1630. The gain would therefore be 2130 points.

$3,500 Attracts More Students To Be Teachers

Saranac Inn, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. says current pay scales for teachers are attracting more and better teacher trainees.

He told the annual meeting of the New York State Council of School Superintendents the number of students entering state teachers colleges had increased 37 per cent since 1952. The minimum starting salary for New York state teachers is $3,500 a year.

But, Allen said, an adequate teacher supply is still the prime educational problem.

The commissioner said in his talk yesterday that last year six per cent of the state's public school students were denied a full school day because of inadequate facilities. He said there are 366 school-building projects planned, the highest number in 20 years.

Allen said the state was holding its own in struggles with teacher and classroom shortages and rising costs and "the pulse of education in New York state is sturdy and strong."

Alligator Loose

Klamath City, Sept. 17 (AP)—An eight-foot-long, 250-pound alligator named Alfred has escaped from Oklahoma City's Lincoln Park Zoo reptile house into a nearby lake. Bob Jenni, curator of reptiles at the zoo, said Alfred crawled out through an unlocked door either Saturday night or Sunday morning. The alligator was seen on the bank of the muddy lake once but efforts to nab him only frightened the alligator back into the water. Jenni said Alfred needs only to surface about every four hours for air. Jenni, who claims there isn't much danger from the alligator, hopes to shoot an arrow into Alfred's tail to serve as a marker above the murky water.

Hospital Parley Opens

Chicago, Sept. 17 (AP)—The American Hospital Assn. opened one of Chicago's biggest conventions today with a session for an estimated 12,000 members in the International Amphitheatre. The four-day meeting of hospital administrators from all parts of the United States and Canada was opened with a message from President Eisenhower saying "America is proud and appreciative of the high standards of hospital care resulting from your dedicated efforts."

Course for Troopers

Cambridge, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—There's a new course in New York state police training: Skin-diving. Twelve troopers yesterday reported for what officials said would be an intensive program in mask-and-fin techniques.

Freedom Not to Speak

By FRANK TRIPP

This chronicler had planned the creation of a new world title. He aimed to become the first columnist in history who didn't sound off on the national political conventions.

And politically he will not; but he cannot ignore the Chicago evidence of a confused concept of news dissemination, by people who have axes to grind. In both high and lowly places.

Such people exist everywhere that newspapers are printed or radio and TV exist. They are people who get so hot up about their enthusiasms that to them nothing on earth is so important to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as is the phobia that momentarily possesses them; anything from a church bazaar to a national convention, it seems.

Having deceived themselves into such belief, they lose all sense of proportion and others who do not share their enthusiasm and aid them in its promotion become, in their eyes, an enemy of the cause which they espouse.

SO, National Chairman Butler was acting in character when he sounded off mad because CBS televised only a part of a propaganda film which pictured Democrats' achievements, way back to Jefferson.

His reaction provides a springboard for this observation about people's misconception of the function of editors.

The film that hoisted Butler's blood pressure was an opus of subtle advertising; something that any editor, worth the title, would accept or reject, in whole or in part, according to his judgment, and the time or space available to him.

It is the editor's right to exercise these prerogatives that is discussed here; with reference to why those rights are important to American freedoms, and need be preserved.

All that we read, see or hear via our mass communication media must be selected and arranged orderly by someone. There are thousands of these "someones," called editors. They are of such a wide variety of personalities, opinions, ideals and ambitions that they form a realistic cross section of all people; representative of every conceivable trend of thought on every topic of public importance.

ALL OF OUR freedoms of speech and press are safe in the hands of this jury of our equals—not our betters; each perhaps a specialist of some sort, but none endowed with authority beyond the doors of his own sanctum.

We choose for ourselves those among them whom we shall read or to whom we shall listen. It is important that what we get through type or airwave emanates from their judgment of news and opinion—and theirs alone.

It is imperative to our democracy that no authority exist, even by intimidation, to enforce any point of view upon the news media that serve the people.

By this route came dictators; whole nations deceived, misled, subjugated by a single line of thought; with no choice of decision because no variety of opinions were available to the people.

THE PEOPLE

themselves often have destroyed, and always will, any news medium, or segment of it, which deceives them or does not give them what they want. This will be true so long as the existence of publishers and broadcasters depends upon the favor of the people—not upon the government.

So, we may damn, suspect or even reject a medium, but in these days when a single human voice can encircle the globe there is, and can be, no monopoly of thought except by despotic control of what the vast army of American editors may write or say.

The freedom to speak, or not to speak, belongs as much to editors as to John Q. Citizen. And should be controlled only within the bounds of decency.

Murder Trial Starts

Philadelphia, Sept. 17—Frank Elsworth, 36, of Tampa, Fla., and Memphis, Tenn., goes on trial today for murder in the $200,000 robbery-slaying of Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, a wealthy widow, Raymond Philip Wilson, 33, Tulsa, Okla., was convicted on a similar murder charge and sentenced to life imprisonment earlier this year. Robert W. Thomas, 46, former deputy sheriff of Dade county (Miami), Fla., and Gus A. DeMoss, 49, Tulsa, Okla., who is under suspension as a police radio dispatcher, are also awaiting trial on murder charges. Mrs. Rossman, 65-year-old widow of a Philadelphia account executive, was found strangled in her downtown hotel room, July 4, 1955. A witness in the Wilson trial said that Wilson confessed the murder to him and named Elsworth as the stranger.

One of these eight will go to the hospital this year

It is true that, on the average, one out of every eight Americans will go to the hospital this year. It may be because of accident, sudden illness or need for surgery, or it might be a happy occasion like the birth of a baby. In any event the chances are that you or members of your family will need hospitalization several times in the course of your family life.

The cost of illness or injury can be a sudden and staggering blow to the family budget. Not only may there be medical and hospital expenses, but also loss of income. This is why it is well to be prepared for such an emergency... to have one of Metropolitan's new Accident and Sickness Policies to help pay for your loss of time from work... and, of course, Hospital and Surgical Expense Insurance to help cover the cost of hospital confinement or surgery.

How do you select such insurance policies? No advertising message could give you a complete answer to this question. Two of the more important considerations, however, in selecting sickness insurance are:

Newest Icebreaker Enroute to Antarctic

Boston, Sept. 17 (AP)—The USS Glacier, the Navy's newest icebreaker, is en route to the Antarctic to kick-off Operation Deep Freeze II, the United States' contribution to the 1956-57 geophysical year polar expedition.

The Glacier sailed yesterday with a 340-man crew for an 8-month tour of the Antarctic. It is scheduled to stop today at Davisville, R. I., to pick up supplies before proceeding on the 12,000-mile trip.

The remainder of the expedition of more than 50 ships will leave west coast ports Nov. 1. The Glacier's first mission will be to serve as beacon and rescue ship at the edge of the Polar Ross sea ice pack for Navy and Air Force planes which will fly from New Zealand to McMurdo Sound, Antarctica.

Typhoon Going

Taipei, Sept. 17 (AP)—Typhoon Freda appeared to be blowing herself out today in the Formosa Strait after slashing through Formosa. The storm was reported spinning, without forward movement, half way across the strait. Winds near the center had decreased to less than 60 miles an hour. Newspaper reports said five persons were drowned on Formosa in flash floods caused by the typhoon. At least 4,000 others were made homeless.

Dresses Missing

Kansas City, Sept. 17 (AP)—Nearly all the chic dresses designed by Pauline Trigere for her exclusive New York clientele this fall disappeared from a cargo dock at Kansas City's Municipal Air Terminal Saturday. Miss Trigere estimated her loss at $250,000. The FBI is working on it but has not reported any progress.

Two Are Injured In Four Mishaps Over Weekend

Two persons were injured slightly in two of four traffic mishaps reported during the weekend rain, a driver was arrested on a traffic charge after one of them, and a truck-car accident was reported early today.

Donald Allan Lee, 22, of 17 John street, reported back and stomach injuries after a two-car mishap at Broadway and Albany avenue early Sunday, and Edwin G. Sherer, 33, of Connelly reported a finger laceration on the right hand after his station wagon skidded on wet pavement at East Chester street and Hemlock avenue Saturday night.

Going Wrong Way

Evelyn Virginia Grant, 45, of New Paltz was charged with driving the wrong way on Fair street after a two-car mishap Sunday at St. James street. She pleaded guilty with the explanation that she was not familiar with details of the city's one-way traffic system and was fined $5 in city court today.

Officers George Dougherty and John Crespiro reported at 12:29 p. m., Sunday that the New Paltz woman was driving the sedan of Daniel J. Pape, 22, of 94 North Chestnut street, New Paltz north on Fair street. The sedan of Eugene Bernard, 46, of 41 Valleyview street, Oneonta, was going east on St. James street.

Both Headed West

In the accident at Broadway and Albany avenue at 3:25 a. m., Sunday, the sedan of Donald Allan Lee and the car of Burton A. Markle, of Route 3, Box 32, Kingston, were both headed west on Albany avenue. Lee was to be treated by a doctor for his injuries, police said.

Officers Joseph Keller and Harry Tempelaar reported at 11:34 p. m., Saturday that the station wagon of Edwin G. Scherer, of Connelly, headed south on East Chester street, came in contact with a wire fence, a post, and curbing on the Emil H. Lawatsch property, 109 East Chester street.

Towed From Scene

The officers reported that Sherer said the vehicle skidded "due to wet pavement." They noted that dirt was loosened at the base of a stop-sign post on the Hemlock avenue side of the intersection. The station wagon was towed from the scene.

A pickup truck owned by Munson's Mobile Service, Port Ewen, and the sedan of Francis J. Vogt, 33, of 356 Albany avenue were reported in collision at Washington and Lucas avenues at 2:30 a. m., Sunday. ## Would Empower Dock Investigators To Make Arrests

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Gov. Harriman says he will "strongly urge" the 1957 legislature to authorize investigators of the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission to make on-the-spot arrests when they see crimes committed.

He said the commission felt that power would lessen book-making and policy-number activity and reduce the number of assault cases on the docks.

The governor said in a statement Saturday he also would ask the enactment of these other commission proposals:

1. Immunity for witnesses, but only after consultation with the district attorney having jurisdiction.

2. Authorization to deny licenses to applicants who refused to answer questions about their loyalty.

3. Extension of registration requirements to cover carpenters, cooper, sweepers, maintenance men and grain elevators, jobs Harriman said were sometimes filled by men denied registration as stevedores because of criminal records or unlawful activity.

4. Higher qualifications for clerks, timekeepers and the maintenance and grain workers on the commission ground that "... any regular practice of pilferage requires the connivance of clerks and checkers and ... payroll padding requires the active participation of the timekeeper."

5. A system of fines on stevedores for violations that do not warrant revocation or suspension of license.

The governor said that reprimanding a stevedore was "rarely effective."

He was reported in "good" condition today at the hospital.

Trooper Raymond Kowalski of the Kingston state police reported that Stevens was proceeding south on the Sawkill road about two miles north of Kingston when he applied his brakes on a slight curve while traveling 45 MPH, skidded on the wet macadam, going off the shoulder on the east side, striking two guard rail posts and plunging down a five-foot embankment.

Stevens will be issued a summons on a charge of driving with only a learner's permit, it was reported.

Kaye, Lacey Capture New Paltz Doubles Crown

Top Corwin, Link In Straight Sets

Marty Kaye and Ed Lacey of Kingston won the Ulster county doubles tennis championship Saturday with a straight set 6-4, 6-1 victory over Gene Link and Dave Corwin of New Paltz on the State University Teachers College at New Paltz courts.

The Kaye duo was hard-pressed to capture the first set which was marked by some excellent ground strokes. They jumped off to a commanding 4-0 advantage, were tied at 4-all before rallying to take the deciding games. They then marched through their rivals in fast time to wrap up the title.

The tournament was sponsored by the State University and was played under the direction of newly-appointed Physical Education and Health Coordinator, Dr. Charles Wolbers.

Trophies were awarded and during the course of the presentations, Dr. Wolbers extended an invitation to all Ulster county tennis players to take part in next year's tournament. Plans for next year are to include senior division singles as well as junior division singles and doubles.

Schenectady Gets Jump in Playoff

By The Associated Press

The Schenectady Blue Jays will meet the Reading Indians in the second game of the best-of-five Governor's Cup playoffs tonight. The pennant-winning Jays hold a 1-0 advantage in the Eastern League tournament.

The Jays took the lead in a 4-2 triumph last night in a weather-delayed tourney.

Harry Anderson and Jim Davis provided the Jays with the winning touch with home runs. Anderson's came in the second with none aboard while Davis chased two runs across in the three-run third.

The tourney, scheduled to get under way Friday, was delayed twice by rains. Yesterday's game was the second of a scheduled double bill. The first was postponed because of wet grounds.

Henry Mason won his second tournament game and fanned six and walked only one. He gave up seven hits, which was two better than his mates could do. Tom Herrera was the loser.

Doubles by Mitch June and Joe Randazzo sparked a last-inning rally by the Indians that produced two runs.

Henry Bolinda will start for the Jays in tonight's game against Reading's Vic Lapiner.

The remainder of the series will be played in Reading after tonight's contest.

Boxing Roundup

Luedee Favored Over British Middleweight

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Pat McCateer, British Empire middleweight champion with a fine record, makes his United States debut tonight as a 6-5 underdog to strong, rangy Jerry Luedee of New Haven at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

The 24-year-old, 5-10 Briton has a 42-2 record, including 20 knockouts. He has been training in New York for several weeks and has impressed observers. In Luedee, he will be up against an unranked clubfighter who hits hard and takes a punch well.

Luedee, 24, has a 21-3-1 record, including 11 kayos.

The 10-rounder will be telecast (Dumont, 9 p. m., EST).

Lightweight contenders Kenny Lane, Muskegon, Mich., and Ludwig Lightburn, British Honduras, clash in the Wednesday radio-television (ABC, 9 p. m., EST) 10-rounder at Miami's Biscayne Arena. Lane, 24-year-old southpaw, has won eight straight, six this year, and is the No. 6 contender. Lightburn, a stylish 22-year-old boxer-puncher, is the ninth contender. Lane's record is 43-5, three knockouts, and Lightburn's 41-7, 13 kayos.

Two fast striding featherweight contenders, Miguel Berrios, and Ike Chestnut, both of New York, meet in an interesting radio-TV 10-rounder (NBC 9 p. m., EST) at Detroit's Olympic Friday night. Berrios, 24, 5-2, is ranked sixth, and Chestnut, 25, 5-6, is ranked ninth.

Gene Fuller, the No. 1 middleweight contender who has been waiting anxiously for Ray Robinson to make up his mind about a title defense, returns to action Saturday night in his West Jordan, Utah, hometown. He takes on veteran Moses Ward of Detroit.

Wall Captures Ft. Wayne Open

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., has destroyed the jinx against former champions repeating in the Fort Wayne Open Golf tournament, but it took an extra hole playoff to do it.

Wall was tied with Bill Trombley of Dallas, Tex., and Gardner Dickinson of Panama City Beach, Fla., at 269 after 72 holes yesterday but fired a birdie three on the overtime hole to take top prize money of $2,400 in the $15,000 tournament.

His other victory here, in 1953, came the same way. He bested Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis in the playoff. No champion had repeated in six previous years of the tourney.

Constantine Cops Grand Prix Race

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—A Southridge, Mass., sports car racer is the winner of the ninth annual Grand Prix of Watkins Glen.

George J. Constantine drove his Jaguar D at an average speed of 71.4 miles per hour Saturday to win the 50-mile race in 42 minutes, 36.8 seconds.

Constantine paced a field of 21 over the rolling, 2 1/2 mile course in this Finger Lakes community. The Grand Prix and five preliminary races were shortened by half because of the unfavorable condition of the recently completed course.

Jack R. Enslay of Indianapolis, Ind., also driving a Jaguar D, was second, Bob Bucher of Birmingham, N. Y., in a Cadillac-Alford, fourth, and Robert Wilson of Jenkintown, Pa., in an Allard, was fifth.

There was only one mishap during the racing program which was completed a few minutes before a steady rain began to fall.

William D. Helburn of New York escaped injury when he overturned in his Ferrari on a curve on the South End of the course early in the Grand Prix. The new privately-owned $100,000 track, was so chewed up during practice sessions that officials of sports car associations urged drivers to withdraw from the races. But only one of the 150 drivers withdrew.

The condition of the track was called "hazardous" by officials of the Sports Car Club of America and the Road Racing Drivers Club.

In past years the races were run over a 6.6-mile course made up of town roads.

Big John Gaucas of Van Schaick (Cohoes) and Harold Mellin fired a 9-under-par 61 to win first place in the Pro-Member tournament, Sunday at Woodstock Country Club.

Gaucas toured the rainswept village links with a rousing 4-under par 66 on his own ball, as he nailed down his second straight Northeastern PGA triumph. He posted a 67 and won the Pro-Pro best-ball event last Monday at Onteora. Gaucas also shared first place tie in the $1,000 Calcutta with a best-ball 63 with George Svirsky.

Mellin, playing a substitute for Dr. R. Rosenbloom, helped Gaucas with birdies on the 5th, 12th and 17th holes. They compiled best-ball nines of 31-30. Because of the substitution, however, the score was not eligible in the Calcutta.

Aussie Girl Sets 200-Meter Record

Sydney, Sept. 16 (AP)—Eighteen year-old Betty Cuthbert set a women's world record for the 200 meters with a time of 23.2 seconds in a trial run at Moore Park, Sydney.

This was two-tenths of a second inside the previous record established by compatriot Marjorie Jackson in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

Miss Cuthbert, a shrub nursery assistant who lives in the Sydney suburb of Ermington, is due to compete in the Olympic trials at Melbourne next month. Last week she set up an Australian record for the 220 yards in 23.09 seconds.

Naugatuck, Conn. (AP)—"Sure," agreed the used car lot salesman when the prospective customer asked if he could road test the convertible. When, after several hours, the customer hadn't returned from the "road test," police guessed he took the firm name too literally. It was Free Motors, Inc.

Yanks Clinch Tie for Flag

Dodgers Chances of Winning Appear to be Much Brighter

By ED CORRIGAN
(The Associated Press)

Just two weeks ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers appeared to be finished. They had dropped a double header to the New York Giants, their hitters were floundering and their pitchers were unsteady. They were 3 1/2 games behind the first-place Milwaukee Braves. The picture couldn't have been blacker.

That was 14 days ago, and to Manager Walt Alston it probably seems like 14 years.

Today, the Brooks top the tight National League race. They have a working margin of a half game over the Braves, are one game up in the vital lost column, and play most of their remaining games in the friendly confines of Ebbets Field.

While the Braves cannot be accused of wilting under pressure, there are these facts to be considered:

Important Facts

1. They have lost eight of their last 13 games.

2. They are at .500 in their last 10 games.

3. In their last 13 games, their pitchers have turned in only two complete games. Bob Buhl has been knocked out four times in a row and Lew Burdette twice.

4. Normally a placid lot, the Braves have been snapping at the umpires, a sure sign of their high tension.

So it is apparent that their own failure, as much as any streak by the Dodgers, has been hurting them.

Their game with the New York Giants was postponed because of rain yesterday while Brooklyn was whipping the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-2. The defeat was a severe blow to the Redlegs. They now are three games out with only 12 to go.

If the Brooks beat them tonight, they can kiss their chances goodbye.

Here is how the three leaders stand with two weeks remaining in the chase:

	W	L	Pct.	GB	Play
Brooklyn	86	56	.606	12
Milwaukee	86	57	.601	1/2	11
Cincinnati	83	59	.585	3	12

Yesterday's postponement means the Braves must play the Giants a two-night doubleheader tonight. That they don't mind, for they welcomed the day's rest. While the Brooks were struggling to open daylight in their league, the New York Yankees were frustrated in their effort to wrap up the American League pennant when they could do no better than a split with Cleveland. The Yanks won the opener 10-3 to assure themselves of no worse than a tie, but dropped the nightcap 4-3.

Bosox, Tribe Eliminated

Both the Indians and the Boston Red Sox, who dropped a pair to the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 and 8-4, were eliminated. Only the Chicago White Sox, who took two from the Washington Senators, 7-5 and 7-2, still are in the running. The next game the Yanks win or the White Sox lose will end it.

The doubleheader between Baltimore and Kansas City wound up in a stalemate. The Orioles won the first 3-2, and the A's the second, 10-1.

In other NL games St. Louis won the first from Pittsburgh, 3-2, but the Pirates captured the second, 9-3. Chicago and Philadelphia also split, the Cubs grabbing the first, 7-4, and the Phillies the afterpiece, 4-1.

Thirty-nine-year-old Sal (The Barber) Maglie held the power-laden Redlegs in check for eight and two-thirds innings in the Brooklyn triumph.

Redlegs Rally

With two out in the ninth, Wally Post scratched a single to third. Smoky Burgess followed with a home run. Then, when Ray Jablonski singled, a hurry call was issued for Don Bessent. Ed Bailey singled as a greeting, but Bessent got Stan Palys on a grounder.

The Brooks collected two of their runs in the second on doubles by Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Duke Snider, then sent what proved to be the winning run home in the fifth when Pee Wee Reese singled and Johnny Klippstein walked Robinson, Hodges and Charlie Neal in succession.

Tom Sturdivant pitched the Yanks to their first-game victory with an assist from Tommy Byrne. Early Wynn, however, put off the inevitable, by beating Casey Stengel's men in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle hit his 45th homer but still is 10 games back of Babe Ruth's record pace in 1927, when he hit 60.

White Sox Second

In sweeping the Senators, the White Sox pulled into second place ahead of the Indians. Jack Harshman won the first, driving in four runs and hitting a homer, while Gerry Staley gave up just five hits in the second.

The Tigers helped eliminate the Red Sox mainly through fine relief pitching by Walt Masterson and Jim Bunning. Masterson

Oklahoma Ranked 1st In AP Poll

By The Associated Press

The power in college football again lies in the Midwest this season in the minds of the nation's experts, and Oklahoma is the pick to be the mightiest of 'em all once more in the pre-season Associated Press poll.

Sports writers and sportscasters voted overwhelmingly for coach Bud Wilkinson's 1955 national champions to repeat, and jammed no less than four other mid-west perennials—Michigan State, Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan—among the top 10.

Michigan State, a surprise runnerup in the final 1955 poll, again took the No. 2 spot behind the Sooners. Notre Dame was third. Then it was Georgia Tech, Ohio State, Maryland, Texas Christian, Michigan, Texas A&M and Pittsburgh.

Only the Far West and the Rocky Mountain areas were missing from the top 10. That "who-payed-whom-and-how-much?" mess which chopped down Pacific Coast powers choked off the Far West, leaving Stanford no more than a 14th place prospect.

Oklahoma, favored on 111 of the 150 votes cast for a 1,427-point total, had a challenge only from Michigan State. The Spartans piled up 1,050 votes, but, with only 20 first place ballots.

The south has Georgia Tech and Maryland among the top 10, but the voters loaded the second 10 with Dixie clubs, ready to make the big jump. Tennessee, Mississippi, Duke and Miami (Fla.) all made the second 10.

Pittsburgh had just a slim edge over Army, placed 11th, for top honors in the east. Yale squeezed in at No. 19.

Syracuse Loses First-String End

Syracuse, Sept. 17 (AP)—Don Althouse, senior end for the Syracuse University football team, suffered a shoulder separation in a practice session and will probably miss the Orange's first two games.

A university spokesman said Althouse slipped and fell Saturday while working out. He is from Sadsburyville, Pa.

In addition to his duties as team punter and defenseman, Althouse was being counted on for his pass receiving abilities.

The Orange opens its season Saturday against powerful Maryland University at College Park, Md. The following week the Syracuse team meets Pittsburgh University, another eastern power.

took over in the eighth of the opener for Billy Hoelt and was given credit for the victory when the Tigers scored three in the ninth. In the nightcap, Bunning was touched for only one hit in 4 1/2 innings of relief.

Art Ditmar tossed a four-hit-iner in the second game against Baltimore after Ray Moore had won his 12th decision for the Orioles in the opener.

Claim Pacing Record

Trumansburg, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Trumansburg Fair officials say that Cherokee Hanover has set an unofficial world's record of 7:13 for pacing horses on a three-mile course. They said the official record was 7:31.5. The officials said Carl Gilbert of Ithaca drove the horse, owned by E. E. Clement of New York city, in a demonstration run Saturday. No other horses participated.

Bronx Woman Is Hurt in Accident Saturday on R-28

Mrs. Salvatore DeStefano, 53, of the Bronx, was treated at Kingston Hospital late Saturday morning for a bump on the head suffered when a car operated by her husband struck the rear of a truck on Route 28 near the Maverick Inn, ran off the highway and struck an embankment.

Deputy Sheriffs Tony Alecca and McCullough of the Ulster county sheriffs office reported that the DeStefano car was following an unidentified truck when it slowed suddenly to avoid an oncoming vehicle. The DeStefano car swerved to the right to avoid the truck but struck it in the rear, continuing into the embankment.

The car had a bent frame and was damaged in the right fender, bumper and parking light.

Wants Name Change

Norwich, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant is in favor of changing the name of this city to Shiloh. The grandson of the one time President and Civil War general suffered slight injuries Friday when his automobile skidded and struck two guard rails near this city.

The Chenango county sheriff's department said Gen. Grant told them it was his second accident in a life-time of driving. The other occurred here in 1934. Gen. Grant, a retired army officer, lives in Clinton, N. Y. His grandfather suffered a great military defeat at the battle of Pittsburg Landing or Shiloh on April 6, 1862.

The General Assembly is the policy making body of the United Nations.

Outbreak Reported

Lamberg, Germany, Sept. 17 (AP)—Police today reported a fresh outbreak between German soldiers and civilians. They said three civilians made insulting remarks to two soldiers in uniform as they passed on a street here. The words led to a free-for-all, which was broken up by police, who arrested the civilians. The attacks are considered an expression of German resentment against rearmament. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has labelled the attacks against the new soldiers a "shame."

McArthur, Calif., Sept. 17 (AP)—Bing Crosby and Kathy Grant planned to go fishing in the McCloud river today with Phil Harris and his wife, Alice (Fay). Asked about rumors of marriage to Miss Grant, the 52-year-old crooner said "I have no plans with Miss Grant. No comment." Crosby, the Harrises and 14 other Hollywood entertainers yesterday raised $32,500 at a benefit performance to give this village of 500 a new Mayer Memorial hospital. Some 6,500 attended, paying $5 per seat. Crosby paid all expenses. Miss Grant, 24, sat quietly in the audience.
